Deal to those fault codes!

Modern car dashboards can light up like a Christmas tree.

How do you know which fault codes are a safety issue and which ones can safely wait? And how can you get rid of them?

Now, every time we service your car we'll perform a complimentary diagnostic scan.

The scanner looks at your car's electrical operating system from the inside out and produces a comprehensive report of all faults found. Believe it or not, your car stores a myriad of fault codes, not all of which have a dashboard warning light.

With the report in hand, we will call you if anything requires attention. We will give you a quote to remedy it and an explanation of how serious it is. You can then make an informed decision – to fix it now, or leave it for next time.

We can even clear your dash of pretty lights and restore your peace of mind! Now, that's what I call a service!

(Note: The diagnostic scan is free however a small charge applies to clear the fault codes).
